"Dear Friends of SS Peter, Paul and Philomena,

He was transfigured before them : Our Lord wanted to prepare His three favourite disciples to follow him on the stations of the Cross. Their Faith was still weak and our Saviour strengthened them by His Transfiguration. He knew very well that they could not be witnesses of His sorrows without a supernatural grace. This grace was given in an unusual way, passing through all the normal meanings of her communication to the human nature. He consoled them before the agony but they did not understand the real meaning of His words. The reaction of St Peter is very significant : "it is good for us to be here...". The Apostle would have liked to stay in the glorious Presence of Our Lord who had established for His Apostles now the intimacy with the glorious life of the Holy Trinity. He did not conceive that this new Theophany was transitory.

We continue often in our own lives to behave as St Peter did : we'd like to stay consoled by the feeling of the grace, a kind of peaceful moment for our soul in God's presence. But we must always remember that feeling this peace in us is only an impermanent help towards our weakness : we are still in the vale of tears, preparing for our glorious life for ever in Heaven. There only, we could share a definitive and unmovable happiness in the Heart of the three Persons, Father ,Son and Holy Ghost. Our present sorrows won't last in Heaven, but they must be accepted as our own part to the Passion of the Redeemer of our life.

The season of Lent will help us to understand more and more this Truth : the world can't accept this, and that's why it tries to avoid the sorrows, and sometimes also the limits, of nature, injured by original sin and by our personal faults. We are really new apostles of Jesus Christ if we bear for His love and with His grace all our crosses, all coming from His Holy Cross. After them, it will be the time of the Resurrection : that's our Faith and the reason of our life."

God bless, good Lent ! Canon Amaury Montjean.
