Dear friends of Saints Peter Paul and Philomena,

The Gospel of this Sunday reminds us that we can only have one master, that we cannot serve God and Mammon (the devil). In the act of charity we say that God is “infinitely worthy of our all our love.” God is infinitely good, our will loves that which is good, therefore we should love God without measure. This does not mean that it is wrong to love or like other things as well, which He has created for our benefit, but it must stay in proportion and be in reference to Him. Our love of God must absolutely hold the first place in our hearts. That is why Our Lord also says we are either for Him or against Him – there is no middle option!

God bless you!

Abbé Scott Tanner
